

A bad cough is more stubborn than a mule, and if the right method is not used it conquers the most stubborn Cough or Cold; it positively cures Bronchitis, Honraeness, Grip, Asthma, Influenza and Consumption. CURED.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP

Wm. H. Breder of Chrystie at., New York City, writes: "I had a cough ever since childhood. It was so had that blood would spurt from my mose, which would leave me week, so that I was often compelled to leave my work. Started to take Dr. Bull's Cough Syvup, and before the third bottle was finished my cough was entirely gone."

SMALL DOSE-PLEASANT TO TAKE. The formula for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup was discovered by Dr. J. W. Bull, Baltimore's most successful throat specialist, and was prescribed by him for many years. It has cured thousands of cases of Grip, Coughs, Colds, Hearseness, Bronchitis and Consumption. It never fails. Large bot-tles 25c, at all druggists. Refuse substitutes; they are injurious. There is none "just as good as" Dr. Pull's; it has stood the test for 50 years, and is to-day prescribed by all leading doctors and used exclusively by prominent hospitals.

CHEAPNESS and Dearness are both comparative words; the fact of one article being priced at five cents and another article being priced at one hundred dollars does not by any means make the five-cent article the cheaper, nor the one-hundred-dollar article the dearer!! No, 'tis the relative value each article gives to the price asked that makes either of them cheap or dear!! The Public should always bear this in mind and be on the lookout for value, not for low prices!! So thinks CRAWFORD.

SHOW OPENS TO-DAY:

Exhibition at the Masonic Temple Promises to Be a Great Display.

THE PRIZE CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

Entries Include Choicest Cuttings From Leading Florists of St. Louis-Michigan, Illinois, Indiana Exhibitors.

Under the auspices of the St. Louis Florists' Club the eleventh annual chrysanthemum show and floral exhibition will open at 11 o'clock this morning at the Masonic Temple, corner of Grand and Finney avenues, and if the number of entries count for anything the display will be among the best that the club has ever made.

The first feature of to-day's exhibit will be fifty vases of cut chrysanthemums, aivided into five classes, the cash premiums for which the following outside and local firms will compete:

Nathan Smith & Son, Adrain, Mich.
E. G. Hill & Co., Richmond, Ind.
Mrs. M. S. Vesey, Fort Wayne, Ind.
O. Tillmann, Marken, Ind. G. Tillmann, Marion, Ind. Schray & Sons, St Louis, Michel Plant and Bulb Company, St.

The second feature will be cut roses, divided into four classes. Here also competi-tion will be quite strong, these having made

South Park Floral Company, Newcastle, E. G. Hill & Co., Richmond, Ind. F. J. Fillmore & Co., St. Louis, R. F. Tesson, St. Louis,

Cut carnations will come in for the third list of prizes. There are three sets of prizes to be awarded and the following firms will ompete for them: South Park Floral Company, Newcastle, Ind.

F. J. Ammann, Edwardsville, Ill.
C. C. Sanders, St. Louis,
It is possible also that Henry Aue of Lindenwood, St. Louis County, will make an entry of his new white carnation, the New St. Louis, to-day. He may defer his exhibit however, until to-morrow.

St. Louis, to-day. He may defer his exhibit however, until to-morrow.

Pretty Decoration of Building.

The interior decorations and general arrangement of the exhibitions this year are exceptionally beautiful. Along the west side of the hall are three tables covered with geranium plants and in the north and south corners are a profusion of paims.

The main exhibit is in the center of the hall, extending north and south and consists of three groups of tables, four in each group. The centerpiece of the middle group is a large cluster of growing plants, while cut chrysanthemums form the conferpiece of each of the end groups. At both the north and south ends of the hall are three groups of chrysanthemum plants, each of which is composed of five varieties.

The sales booth and music stand are located at the east side of the room and between them are three tables covered with blooming house plants. The pillar supports of the hall have been artistically entwined with wild smilax and around the base of each are a number of specimen palms.

The show, this year, is being conducted under a different management, J. J. Beneke, who for the past five years has had active charge, having resigned his position and given way to Fred H. Melnhardt. He and his corps of assistants comprising the executive committee, have been untiring in their endeavor to make the show this year a success and that their efforts seem likely to be rewarded to the full extent of their anticipations is evidenced by the fact that the ladies are making special efforts to intheir endeavor to make the show this year a success and that their efforts seem likely to be rewarded to the full extent of their anticipations is evidenced by the fact that the ladies are making special efforts to intheir endeavor to make the show this year a success and that their efforts seem likely to be rewarded to the full extent of their anticipations is evidenced by the fact that the ladies are making special efforts to intheir endeavor to make the show this year a success and th been making a vain effort for the last two weeks to find the record of the death of his weeks to find the record of the death of his half-brother, Joseph P. Bolieau, who was drowned at the Carondelet Boat Works June 27, 1870.

Rey recently discovered that his mother was entitled to a small estate in France, to which his brother was an heir. To get possession of it she must first prove his death. This according to a letter that Rey wrote to Coroner Armstrong of St. Louis County, they have been unable to do. In his letter Rey says that he first went to the Coroner's office in the new City Hall, and was sent from there to the mortuary officials sent him to the Poorhouse, as his brother's body was buried on the County Farm after it was recovered. No results were obtained at this place, and the Superintendent advised him to go to Clayton, as St. Louis was a part of the county in 1872. Mr. Rey went to the county seat and found that no records were kept there prior to 1878, when the city and county separated.

As a last resort, Rey wrote to Doctor Armstrong in Webster Groves. Here again he was disappointed, for the Coroner did not have any record of the drowning.

Wrong Overcoat.

Detective George Williams of Chief Desmond's staff is engaged in his spare times these days in looking for a man who wears certain ragian overcoat, into which wa a certain ragian overcoat, into which was dropped by mistake a purse containing 23 belonging to a young woman friend.

Williams escorted her to the theater. There he checked his coat. She had previously intrusted to him her purse. Williams went back and handed the purse to the check boy, saying. "Drop that in my coat." At the same time he gave the boy the number, but he made a mistake, and slipped it into the pocket of another ragian.

"Til take my purse now," said the young woman as they left the theater. Williams felt in the pockets, but no purse was there. He went back to the checkfooth, but the coat into which the purse had been slipped was gone.

Judge Wood Denies Edward Cavender's Application for Release.

Judge Horatio D. Wood yesterday denied the writ of habeas corpus in the case of Edward Cavender, who is held at the Workhouse under a $100 fine from the First District Police Court. Cavender was arrested on October 5 by the police on a charge of being a vagrant. On October 6 he was arraigned and asked for a continuance, which was granted until October 19. At the same time he was released on his own recognizance. On October 19 he again appeared to ask another continuance, claiming his witnesses were not present. Judge Sidener gave him until October 12. When the case was called again he was not present, and Judge Sidener fined him $100 by default.

YOUTH HELD FOR MURDER.

Isaac Daniels Dies From Stab Wound at Metropolis, Ill.

Metropolis, Ill., Nov. 12.-Isaac Danlels, a salaonkeeper of this city, is dying from the offect of a standing array last night. Johnnis Hunt, a youth who had been discharged by Daniels that day, stepped into the latter's saloon, it is alleged, and called him to one side and stabbed him in the neck with a long knife. The boy is now in tall. It was in Daniels's saloon that Marshal Crouch was killed last February, and Daniels married Crouch's widow ten days after the tragedy.

FOR TABLE AND KITCHEN.

But a few years ago a salad was considered of no importance among the ordinary daily dishes and but an accessory to a very elaborate meal, where novelty and variety was the chief object. Then the salad, being adopted from the French cuisine, was, if one wished to be strictly in good form, composed of one or more uncooked greens, moistened with sait, pepper, oil and vinegar.

This served well the purpose for which it was meant; but to-day the term salad has a much broader definition and embraces not only delicious adjuncts to the dinner or imacheon, but may form the principal dish for a light meal or play the dessert.

Mixing a Fratt Salad.

These are comparatively the new salads, and the minds of many housewives seem to entertain considerable doubt as to how and when they are to be used and to also hesitate in the attempt to compound them without minute directions as to the process. In fact, a fruit salad is the simplest of all salads, and the materials are generally the most available. Their compounding is merely a matter of taste in the combining of the fruits, juices and dressings.

compounding is merely a matter of taste in the combining of the fruits, juices and dressings.

The dessert salad or the salad that is intended to fill a double part, that of the regular salad course and followed by cheese, waters and coffee, do away with the regulation dessert, is naturally a sweet salad and may be richer in compound than under ordinary conditions.

Fruit salads, like frozen creams, are improved in flavor if after mixing the fruits they are allowed to stand in a cool place for one or two hours before serving. The dressing, however, is not added until time of serving; unless the said dressing is made of the fruit juices.

Apple Salad.

This is one of the simplest of fruit salads and is intended to accompany meat or game.

The apples must be tart and meliow. Slice rather thin and moisten well with a mixture of orange and lemon juice, with a very little sugar and grated nutmeg. Stand in a cold place for an hour. Serve in lettuce cups. Another way is to slice the apples; add a few slices of Bermuda onlon; toss about well and let stand fifteen minutes. Then remove the onlon and sprinkle the apples with sait, cayenne, oil and vinegar and keep in a cold place until blended.

Grape and Orange Salad.

Take equal quantities of red grapes and oranges; cut in dice, wash the grapes and wipe them dry; cut in halves lengthwise and remove the seeds; stand in a cool place; peel the oranges carefully, remove the skin and seeds from each section and cut into dice; mix with the grapes and keep very cold until ready to serve, then arrange little cups of delicate, crisp lettuce leaves on individual plates, fill with the fruit and put tablespoonful of sweet boiled dressing on top, decorate with half an English walnut kernel.

tablespoonful of sweet bolled dressing on top, decorate with half an English walnut kernel.

Sweet Boiled Dressing.

Put one egg, one tablespoonful of corn starch, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, half tenspoonful sail, a dash of white pepper and half tenspoonful end, a dush of white pepper and half tenspoonful of mustard together in a saucepan and beat together until smooth and light. Then add a cup of milk or cream (sour is best) and when thoroughly blended, beat in a third of a cup of vinegar that has been heated to scalding point, with two level tablespoonfuls of butter. Stir constantly until it begins to thicken and remove from the fire and best for five minutes; then set away to cool. If you want this particularly dainty stir in half a cup of stiff, whipped cream just before serving.

Orange and Nut Saind.

Take three cups of shelled walnut neats, put them into a saucepan with a teaspoonful of sail, two blades of mace and a bay leaf. Cover with boiling water and cook ten minutes. Drain off the water, take out the seasoning and throw the nuts in ice water until coid, then drain and wipe dry. Mix with a good stiff mayounnise and place a layer in a glass dish, lined with lettuce leaves. On, op of nuts spread a thin layer of dry, whipped cream, then a layer of sweet oranges, sliced very thin, during the skins, which must be very thin. Garnish the top with whipped cream and whole walnut meats.
